ON A ROAD TINGED WITH DARKNESS AND COLD,
I SAW THE GLOW OF A LIGHT, SHINING
SMALL BUT STEADY.
I CLOSED MY EYES IN DISBELIEF, FOR THEY HAD BECOME ACCUSTOMED TO THE DARK.
AND I HAD TO FOLLOW IT, FACE WHATEVER IT WOULD SHOW ME,
NO MATTER HOW MUCH IT HURT TO SEE,
OR HOW SOON IT WOULD FADE.

Local Boy Wins Chess Tournament

The Kentucky Scholastic Chess Tournament was held Saturday and Sunday, June 16 and 17, at the University Center Building of the University of Louisville.

In three separate tourney categories: Grade school (1 through 6); Junior High (7 through 9); and Senior High (10 through 12) was held simultaneously to establish the individual state chess champion for each category.

Christopher Luzzio, who recently completed the third grade and whose 9th birthday was June 18, tied for second place in the tournament. He has been playing chess only since last Christmas and offered good competition for children older and more experienced. Chris won five rounds out of seven. The winner of the trophy (a 6th grader) won six rounds.

Chris is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Anthony

WHY DO THEY ALWAYS HAVE TO PLAY THAT SONG
YOU KNOW THE ONE
IT'S FUNNY BUT I NEVER GET TO SING ALONG...
WHY NOT ME...

THE RAINBOW

As the moons fall into space
the time approaches for your trip
From a different dimension
there comes many colors Flashes of green, streaks of blue bolts of yellow, and reflections of orange surrounding, but not touching you everything begins to spin and a shade of lavender covers the sphere
Then everything turns cloudlike
You are where you want to be stars sparkling like diamonds cosmic rays spinning Your head spins with them and it makes you wonder Then the rainbow reappears and your journey is finished for now
The colors return to their dimensions
    Yet there you stand eyes sparkling like the stars following the path of your rainbow
And everything is understood.
